

In This Newsletter

- The Scottish Premier League has appointed Neil Doncaster as its new chief executive.
- Scottish Football Club's naming rights offered to business for the first time
- Lincoln City sign new deal
- Unibond side Chasetown and College join forces
- Farsley Celtic F.C kicked out of the Blue Square North

Our Marketing Partners:

Grassroots Corner:

From Lands End to John O Groats

Footballtradedirectory.com embraces football from north and south of the border. With features on English and Scottish clubs the football trade directory keeps you up to date on the stories impacting football this week. Don't forget to contact us to get your stories in a future newsletter

The Scottish Premier League has appointed Neil Doncaster as its new chief executive.

The 39-year-old, who served as Norwich City chief executive until May, will work alongside chairman Lex Gold, who has plans to retire. Englishman Doncaster has also sat on the boards of both the Football Association and Football League.

Read More >

Scottish Football Club's naming rights offered to business for the first time

Buystirlingalbion' campaign offers firms title rights to football club and ground

Read More >

Lincoln City sign new deal

Lincoln City has secured a new sponsorship deal with the University of Lincoln...

Read More >

Unibond side Chasetown and College join forces

UniBond League Division One South club Chasetown, in partnership with Law Training and Chasetown Specialist Sports College, are to provide education Programmes for 16 to 18-year-old talented footballers.

Read More >

Farsley Celtic F.C kicked out of the Blue Square North

Farsley Celtic have been kicked out of the Blue Square North for going into administration. Read more and find out how you can help

Read More >

