

Our Partners

11-a-side in decline at grassroots level?

With the news of yet another league looking for new teams we ask whether weekend 11-a-side football at grassroots level is on the decline?

Read More >

Npower to sponsor The Football League?

Npower could be set to replace Coca-Cola and become the new sponsor of The Football League, according to The Sun.

Read More >

ESTC record 100% pass rate at Buxton FC

The UniBond League's Steward Training Partners Events Stewarding, Training and Consultancy have helped volunteers become qualified stewards at Buxton FC.

Read More >

Irn Bru extend Scottish League sponsorship

Soft drinks company AG Barr has extended its sponsorship of The Scottish Football League for a further three years.

Read More >

Burnley sign international shirt sponsor

Burnley FC have announced a shirt sponsorship deal with Fun88, the biggest deal of its kind in the club's history.

Read More >

Also This Week

Hibernian's Easter Road to become UEFA compliant stadium

Scottish Premier League side Hibernian have started work on the East Stand of their Easter Road Stadium which will see the ground become a UEFA compliant football stadium.

Read More >

Premier League sells radio packages for £40m

The Premier League has sold its radio commentary broadcast rights packages for the 2010/11 to 2012/13 seasons for an estimated £40m, with the rights being shared between the BBC, TalkSport and Absolute Radio.

Read More >

Race against time for Blue Square North club

Gloucester City face a race against time to agree a groundshare deal - or face relegation from the Blue Square North.

Read More >

Correction - 'Chelsea and Fulham hunt for timing sponsors'

On the 18th February 2010 an article was published titled 'Chelsea and Fulham hunt for timing sponsors' in which it was suggested that TK Media were representing Chelsea Football Club in searching for a new timing sponsor. Following contact from Chelsea, we would like to make it clear that this is not the case, TK Media are in no way working on behalf of Chelsea in this capacity and that the offending article has been removed.

Read More >

